Dear Steve and Marilyn,

The National Association of Realtors just completed a homesellers survey and they listed four qualities that homeowners look for in hiring a Realtor to sell their home. One of the qualifiers was "professional designations". I would like to take this opportunity to share some of the designations I have received during my career as a Real Estate Professional:

- Certified Residential Specialist - CRS
- Certified Real Estate Brokerage Manager - CRB
- Accreditted Buyer Representative - ABR
- Senior Real Estate Specialist - SRES
- Real Estate Cyberspace Society - RECS
- Graduate, Realtors Institute - GRI

The course work taken to receive these designations has helped me better serve my clients with their questions and needs throughout the real estate transaction. If you were hiring a surgeon to do a heart transplant for you, wouldn't you more likely consider the one with the most education and the most successful procedures?

As one of Minnesota's highly designated Realtors with nearly 3,000 successful sales, let me make your next listing experience a SOLD one!
