Get Automated with Twitterfeed

Set Twitterfeed up so that every time you post a new blog on your website it will auto post to your social media pages, keep you in the public's mind and create back links to your website to capture leads. (I use Twitterfeed because I noticed posting to FB directly from my website hurt my website SEO by slowing down my website!)

Here's what you will need. It is easy!

Twitterfeed.com http://twitterfeed.com/

Your Twitter URL https://twitter.com/CarolMazur

Your Facebook Page URL https://www.facebook.com/RECoaching

Your LinkedIn URL http://www.linkedin.com/in/carolmazur

Your Website http://topprotraining.com/ or
Your Website Feed http://www.thetopproducergroup.com/feed/ or
Your RSS feed (same thing) http://www.thetopproducergroup.com/rss/

Now register on http://twitterfeed.com/

Step One

Create a new feed
Name it with your keywords (Your area homes or your area real estate)
Add your website feed URL
Test it. Parsed is good!
Go to advanced settings
Change every 30 minutes to Every 24 hours.
Change Title and Description to Title (so that you can auto tweet to Twitter
Don't worry about keywords or bit.ly etc. Leave settings for now.

Step Two

Connect you Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn accounts by following the auth steps.

Step Three, follow steps and be sure to hit "Done"

Now add one of your favorite website's helpful real estate feeds and quickly become the go to expert in your area real estate so that you can build relationships. (It's a popularity contest on Google so this will automate the process. Set it and forget it for 6 months).
